

BOND ISSUE CARRIES BY MAJORITY OF MORE THAN 4 TO 1

Will Mean a Million Dollars' Worth of Hard-Surfaced Roads for This County and is Considered the Most Progressive Step Taken in a Half Century

Only Three Precincts in Entire County Vote Against Proposition With One a Tie

At the Good Roads election held in this county last Saturday as to whether Montgomery county was in favor of a $250,000 bond issue for the improvement of roads and bridges, the issue carried by the overwhelming majority of 1528, fifteen out of 19 precincts voting in favor of same, while there was a tie vote in one precinct. The result is extremely gratifying to good roads advocates, both in Montgomery county and in this entire section of the state.

The voting of the bond issue means that the Winchester pike to the Clark county line will be constructed of hard-surfaced material within the near future, probably this summer, while the Owingsville pike to the Bath county line, and the Camargo pike to the Menefee county line will be constructed with similar material in the near future. After the constructing of these roads the county will be relieved of their permanent upkeep and the money heretofore spent on them will be spent on the other thoroughfares of the county, thereby directly benefiting every taxpayer of Montgomery county. The building of these roads will mean greater prosperity for Mt. Sterling and Montgomery county and it is confidently expected that it will only be a matter of a few years until we have as good roads as can be found in any county in the state.

On the building of these roads the State and Federal governments put up $3 every time we put up $1, thereby giving us $1,000,000 worth of hard-surfaced roads for $250,000.

The vote polled over the entire county was very light, and the result by precincts follows:

	Yes	No
First Ward A	178	19
First Ward B	220	28
Second Ward A	145	7
Second Ward B	135	6
Third Ward A	128	5
Third Ward B	129	6
Fourth Ward	191	5
Beans	127	20
Levee	94	22
Grassy Lick	39	56

Camargo	151	17
Spence	28	17
Jeffersonville	156	41
Aaron's Run	30	101
Totals	2027	499

Majority, 1,528.

Vote in the city was 1,124 to 76; in the county precincts 903 to 424. It will, therefore, be seen the precincts of the county outside the city gave a majority of over two to one.

Noel Hodges Injured

Noel Hodges, well known insurance man, of this city, together with his wife and six children, were in an automobile accident Sunday night, when their car was wrecked on the Winchester pike. The car, which was driven by the sixteen-year-old son of Mr. Hodges, struck a big rock in the roadway coming down a steep hill, and the boy lost control of the machine, which ran into a ditch. Mr. Hodges was the only member of the party who was hurt and his injuries are only slight. The car was completely demolished. Mr. and Mrs. Hodges and children had been spending the day in Frankfort and were returning to their home in this city when the accident occurred.

Locals Break Even With Huntington Nine

The Mt. Sterling Baseball Club opened the season in this city Sunday under the new management and came out victorious over the strong team representing the Foster-Thornburg Hardware Co., of Huntington, W. Va., by the score of 3 to 2. Both teams played "Big League" ball and the exhibition was one of the prettiest and cleanest seen on the local lots in many a day. The Huntington boys were held scoreless until the ninth inning when an error by Jones in center field enabled them to score twice. The feature of the game was the hitting of Jones and the pitching of Ahman, who allowed the visitors but three bingles. The box score follows:

Monday's Game

The game Monday was called at 2:30 o'clock and a large crowd was present. Ahman essayed to pitch for Mt. Sterling, but the strain of the day before soon told on him and he was relieved in the sixth inning by "Ricks" Wells, who held the visitors to one score during the remainder of the game. Dean, pitching for the Huntington boys, pitched gilt-edge ball at all times and was backed up by almost perfect support, while the fielding of the local team was very inferior to the day before. Hammond was the only local player that could hit Dean with any effect, but he certainly did land on the ball, getting a home run, a three-bagger and a two-bagger. The box score follows:

Memorial Day Observed Yesterday

These periods come and go. It may be families have escaped the intense personal experiences, but there will be a time when sorrows will link all homes with the graveyard. Twelve months ago there were indifferent ones because of no vacant chairs, but not so on Memorial Day, 1921. Hearts unknown to sadness sooner or later must realize that the death roll will claim them and theirs. For those gone the 30th day of May was designated as memorial day and by request of Mayor McKee all business houses here were to close and minds reverted to those who have just fallen by the way as a matter of irresistibility and for others who had perished on fields of battle for a cause. In the Courthouse yard by a shaft indicating those who had given their lives that Democracy should cover the earth as the water covers the sea, a large audience gathered and a beautiful service was held. The Knights Templar were there in full uniform, the American Legion also in their uniforms, keeping step to the beats of the muffled drum. The song service conducted by the church choir of the city rendered in volume and beauty sacred hymns, and music from the violin aroused the pathos of the soul. The orator of the day was Rev. Clyde Darsie, of the Christian church, who delivered a studied historical address giving mention of the wars of our country, the principle for which the United States contended down to this hour. The address was well received and had in it material worth the storing. After a benediction the greater part of the large audience, headed by the Knights Templar and American Legion repaired to the Cemetery, where the chaplain of the Legion, Ratliff Baird, conducted the last religious rites of their order. Lewis Killpatrick, in charge of the Legion, read the death roll and the closing prayer was made by Rev. M. V. P. Yeaman.

Decoration of the graves was generally observed and again the city of the dead, Macphelah, was a beauty as the blanket of flowers told of hearts that palpitated for the loved and lost.

Billy Wells Narrowly Escapes Death

Billy Wells, prominent farmer and oil magnate, with his young daughter, narrowly escaped death Friday morning when the automobile in which they were riding was struck by the fast west-bound C. & O. at Spencer crossing, near this city. The train was something over two hours late that day and Mr. Wells, not thinking of a train passing at that hour, did not look up the tracks, but started across the railroad, when the rear wheels of his car were struck by the train. Both Mr. Wells and his daughter were thrown from the car, a distance of several feet and escaped practically uninjured. The car was badly damaged.

MARKED REDUCTION IN ALL BUICK MOTOR CARS

Attention is called to the advertisement of the Mt. Sterling Garage, appearing in this issue, in which the new prices on Buick automobiles are announced. There has been a very marked reduction in this popular make car. The new prices are from $300 to $660 less than the old ones.

EXTRA VOTES FREE ON FIRST SUBSCRIPTIONS RECEIVED BY JUNE 4TH

Contestants Should Take Advantage of This Opportunity and Secure Thousands of Extra Votes Free—Those Who Get Started Early Have the Best Chance to Win.

NOMINATE YOUR FAVORITE

If the Name of Your Favorite Did Not Appear in Today's List, Send in a Nomination at Once—$1,500 in Prizes to be Awarded for Spare Time Effort.

Candidates whose names now appear on the list and also those who have been thinking of entering should get their campaign started at once and take advantage of the first extra vote offer whereby thousands of extra votes are given free on the first subscriptions.

The first subscription for one year or more—either new or renewal—turned in before 8 P. M., on June 4th, entitles you to a Special Ballot good for 10,000 extra votes in addition to the regular number of votes given. Or, if you turn in three subscriptions before the above date you will receive 30,000 Extra Votes Free.

Any candidate with the least ambition and energy can easily secure three subscriptions in a short time among friends and neighbors if they try and these extra votes will give them a good start in the big race.

The three subscriptions turned in to apply on this offer will also count toward the larger offers to be made during the first period. A number of special vote offers will be made during the campaign, but contestants should bear in mind that the largest of these offers will be made during the early part of the campaign, and they will continue to decrease as the campaign nears the end. Hence, it is advisable to turn in subscriptions as early as possible, as they will be counted under largest offers during which periods the most votes are given on subscriptions.

All candidates—both present and prospective—should call at the office or write the Campaign Manager at once so he can furnish supplies or telephone No. 74 and ask him to come to your home and explain the details of the campaign. Remember, the campaign representative is here to give all possible assistance to the candidates, so do not feel any hesitancy in asking him to show you how your efforts will bring the best results.

Any person with the least ambition and energy can certainly make his or her spare time pay big in this campaign, if he or she make an active race. Over $1,500 in valuable premiums are offered for spare time efforts in the interests of this paper and from present indications these prizes will be picked up for a very little effort.

Thus far only a few candidates out of the entire list in today's issue have actually commenced their campaign and secured even as much as one subscription. We have many more prizes than active workers and the valuable premiums are actually going begging for lack of active workers to compete for them.

Those who first awaken to their opportunity and commence their campaigns will certainly be well repaid for their spare time efforts. If you would like to secure an automobile or one of the other splendid prizes without cost and are willing to devote a little spare time to this work, then we invite you to enter as an active candidate.

Many candidates think that everyone on the list except themselves are making an active race, and they do not go ahead because they think they haven't much of a chance. But only a few have thus far started. Even though they may have votes to their credit, that does not necessarily signify that they are trying. Our subscribers are sending in hundreds of the coupons from the papers and the store votes and in many instances are voting for candidates who have not even attempted to try.

All the prizes are given to those getting the most votes and votes may be clipped from the paper and are given free on new subscriptions, back subscriptions and renewals, on printing and also on purchases at several different stores, a list of which is given elsewhere in this issue.

Votes may be deposited in the ballot box at The Advocate office or they may be mailed direct to the Campaign Manager. Be sure to deposit the 50-vote coupons before the date of expiration thereon.

To enter, simply send your name and address to the Campaign Manager, stating you wish to enter and he will send you supplies and instructions. Or, better still, come to the office and have a personal talk with him. You may enter your own name or you may nominate some friend.

The campaign is divided into four periods and extra vote offers will be made during each period. The largest offer will be made during the first period and the votes will decrease as the campaign nears the end. The first period closes June 21st.

During the first period 250,000 extra votes will be given free on each and every "Club of $15" worth of "new" subscriptions turned in for or by a candidate. In addition, twenty prize ballots, the first for 1,000,000 Extra Votes, the second for 950,000 extra votes and so on down will be given to the twenty candidates who turn in the greatest number of both old and new subscriptions before June 21st.

Candidates are not allowed to solicit store votes in the stores or in front of the stores giving votes on

Good Roads Delegates To Be Entertained

Delegates to the Good Roads Convention June 7-10, at the Jefferson County Armory, under the auspices of the Kentucky Road Engineers' Association, will be royally entertained during their stay in Louisville.

The program is the most pretentious of any prepared for a meeting in the state.

Tuesday, the opening day, delegates will be registered and presented with handsome badge souvenirs in the form of a bronze tobacco leaf upon which is stamped a beautiful woman and horse, all symbolic of Kentucky. In the evening a hand concert and dance will be given in the Convention Hall and motion pictures will be shown.

Shortly before noon on the second day the visitors will be taken in automobiles to the country home of Merritt Drane, president of the association, where refreshments will be served. They will then have dinner at the Eight Mile House. During the afternoon the county quarry, the new federal aid permanent concrete road and other types of roads will be inspected and the motor oils and modern construction machinery will be demonstrated. In the evening there will be music, dancing and motion pictures at the Armory.

A trip which should be of special interest to those from out in the state will be the boat excursion on Thursday afternoon. Delegates will be taken on a four-hour ride up the river on the steamer America, one of the largest and finest steamers on the Ohio. Luncheon will be served on board. A jazz orchestra will be provided. The dance hall of the vessel is 270 feet long. The usual evening program of music, dancing and motion pictures will be staged at the Convention Hall. All sessions and amusements will be open to the public without charge.

One of the interesting features of the convention will be the exhibit of road machinery and motor trucks in the convention hall. Fifty dealers and manufacturers from all sections of the county have engaged space for displays of their equipment.

Readjustment Before Buyers Enter Market

Full return to satisfactory business conditions will be slow until the minority of business men and workmen who have ignored the principles of common honesty are aroused to the necessity of sound and decent standards of conduct, according to Elbert H. Gary, chairman of the United States Steel Corporation.

Speaking before the American Iron and Steel Institute, Mr. Gary, who is president of the institute, said the American people are not buying enough to supply themselves fully with the ordinary comforts of life, although they have the disposition and the means to do so. This, he explained, was due to the opinion of the purchasing public that there has not been complete and proper readjustment of prices.

Reading the advertisements in this newspaper is the one best way to keep in touch with the lowest prices, the best qualities and the newest commodities that stores are offering and manufacturers are putting out for your benefit.

Glance through the advertising columns now and in a few minutes you can set yourself right on numerous things you want to buy.

Advertising has stabilized prices. The advertiser names his price—the same for all. You can know that in paying it you're getting the same deal as the next one.

Advertising has helped to standardize quality. Only the best of wares are spread out for you on these printed pages. The men who advertise here are making publicly certain claims, on the fulfillment of which depends their commercial success.

THE advertisements in this newspaper give you news of the latest and best things made, with word as to what they cost and what they will do. They put before your eyes the pick of the country's market and the selection of the particular kind, shape, size and color that best suits your taste and fits your pocketbook.

Remember, you can depend on advertised products. Read the advertisements and let them guide you in the ways of true economy.

300 Scrub Sires To Be Replaced

Sixteen counties have been canvassed by county farm agents and representatives of the Louisville Livestock Exchange and indications are that approximately 300 scrub bulls on Kentucky farms will be replaced by pure-bred animals when the pure-bred sire sale is held at Louisville June 2nd, in connection with the better sires-better stock movement, according to Wayland Rhoads, extension specialist in beef cattle production from the College of Agriculture. The survey of the different counties was made for the purpose of determining the number of scrub animals which farmers will replace and also the number of pure-bred sires which will be purchased. Different counties are planning to purchase as many as 25 sires at the sale.

RENEWED TESTIMONY

No one in Mt. Sterling who suffers headache, headaches, or distressing urinary ills can afford to ignore this Mt. Sterling woman's twice-told story. It is confirmed testimony that no Mt. Sterling resident can doubt.

Mrs. J. C. McDonald, 115 Queen street, Mt. Sterling, says:

"I suffered with headache and had no energy to do my work, especially mornings. I had such dizzy spells I would almost fall. I had frequent headaches and nervous spells. My kidneys acted irregularly, too. I used Doan's Kidney Pills from Land & Priest's Drug store and they strengthened my back, relieved the dizziness, headaches and other symptoms of kidney trouble."

Mrs. McDonald gave the above statement January 6th, 1917, and on December 11, 1920, she added: "I have always a good word for Doan's Kidney Pills since they cured me of kidney trouble. I am glad to again give them my endorsement."

You Could See It Was a Fine Town

"This must be a fine town, with a strong spirit of co-operation between it and the surrounding farms. I've never been there, but I'd like to go."

This remark was prompted by a glance through the columns of one of the best country semi-weekly newspapers published in the United States, a paper which radiated progress, good will and prosperity, and unconsciously has come to be the best advertising medium its community possesses.

It is successful because it serves the community faithfully and reflects in each issue the life and the work of the largest percentage of its readers. Service to the community cannot be accomplished by an editor alone, however. He needs the help of the farmer and his family in several ways. Among these are:

By subscribing to the paper.
By writing the editor or visiting the office occasionally with items of interest, intelligent criticism or praise for good issues. This shows interest and lets the editor know that some one is watching.

By advertising live stock, poultry, produce, land or pure-bred seeds.

By placing orders for job printing, such as bill heads, letter heads, business cards and public notices in the home printing office.

By telling merchants and professional men when their advertisements in the home paper are effective.

By helping the editor to secure and keep alive, accurate correspondents in each neighborhood in the community.

GOOD TOBACCO WILL BE WANTED

In order to induce the people to use V.-C. Fertilizer and make fine tobacco, the V.-C. Co., the largest fertilizer company in the world, has just made a big reduction in prices, and I can now sell you our V.-C. Gem Tobacco Grower at $38.50 per ton, F. O. B. Lexington and $2.60 per bag for our V.-C. Plant Food.

Another common crop of tobacco would certainly bring ruin to the tobacco growers and to the tobacco trade, while a medium size crop of good, bright tobacco will be needed, and will no doubt bring good paying prices. 200 pounds of our Gem Tobacco Grower drilled in, or by the side of the row, gives your tobacco a start and ripens it up with good color two weeks sooner, and only costs $3.85 an acre; or three bags, 375 pounds drilled in all over the ground, will make you a fine tobacco crop and also make you a fine wheat or rye and grass crop following it. Either one of these crops will more than pay for the fertilizer. See that your plants are not killed.

A party that used three bags in this way made 13,875 pounds on ten acres and sold it for $40.14 average this season.

A little of our Plant Food sowed over the bed and after they come up, and wished in, will give you plants two weeks sooner.

Two bags will double the yield of one acre of potatoes.

Terms this year are positively cash.

Sudan Grass is Good Hog Forage for State

Experiments conducted for the first time by the Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station to determine the value of Sudan Grass as a summer pasture for hogs indicate that this crop has possibilities of filling a long-felt need in this connection. The grass was relished by the animals and an acre furnished sufficient forage for ten brood sows during the two months of the summer season. They were also maintained on the pasture without any grain. The experiment will be continued during the coming summer with the younger hogs.

A long series of experiments, conducted by the Kentucky Station have shown that it is practically impossible to have a young forage crop for hogs during the hot dry season of the year. Rape was formerly advocated for this purpose, but the experiments showed that the crop is a failure four out of five times, due to the fact that it needs considerable moisture and cool weather for development.

Other crops which have been sown the fall before or during the spring to supply the needed forage for hogs usually become high and woody in July and August and were therefore not relished by the animals. The fact that the pig has a small stomach and cannot utilize the coarser roughage to advantage made it necessary to find a crop that would be young and tender during the summer pasture season. The experiments which are to be conducted in connection with Sudan Grass as a forage crop for young hogs are expected to bring out some important results.

Price of Butter & Eggs Sign of Good Times

(Bowling Green Times-Journal)
When folks speak of "good old times," their minds run back to the decade between 1890 and 1900. They were the last years of the old America. In those years no one was especially worried about social and economic problems. Life ran in a fairly smooth groove. Eggs sold for about 12 cents a dozen and butter for a quarter a pound. Millionaires were few. It seemed easier to get along then than now.

But if the increase of 450 per cent in the number of high schools in the United States since 1890 means anything it means that we are better off than that generation. The tremendous increase of high schools must be interpreted as indicating a wider distribution of prosperity and a consequent desire on the part of parents to make the lives of their children richer than their own was. In the last generation the high school was largely the well-to-do family's luxury. Today it is the preparatory school of the worker's child and for his benefit the modern city high school has become a vocational training center. Then many men liked to say that what was good enough for them was good enough for their children. Today most men say nothing is too good for their children.

The 90's gave us cheap butter and eggs, but the harder twentieth century has sharpened our vision for self-improvement and social betterment; has popularized higher education and, through education has enlarged our needs. These needs cost us more and make us work harder than the simple needs of 1890 to 1900, but they are worth working for. These are the better times after all.

Opportunities may come early in life, so don't be too hasty in decisions.

Unhappiness and discontent is the breeder of many evils.

Trachoma Clinic Held in Knox Co.

Dr. C. B. Kopert director of the State Board of Health's Bureau of Trachoma, who is holding a series of clinics in various counties in Kentucky, finished his clinic at Manchester, Clay county, last Saturday, and he and his assistants spent this week holding another clinic at Barbourville. Next week a clinic will be held at Lancaster, in Garrard county, and after that one at Jackson in Breathitt county.

Dr. Kopert reports that the clinic at Manchester was one of the most successful ever conducted by the State Board of Health. During the week 372 patients were examined, 34 cases of trachoma were found, and 22 operations were performed. The number of cases of trachoma found was lower than was anticipated and is considered distinctly encouraging.

Assisting Dr. Kopert in holding the clinics are Dr. C. E. Downs, of the United States Public Health Service; Miss Nell Lang, United States Public Health Nurse, and Miss Linda Neville, Mrs. Mattie P. Snodaker and Miss Barbara Cochran, of the State Board of Health.

Silas Shelburne Claimed by Death

Accompanied by his son, Victor Shelburne, Washington, D. C., and W. L. Petty, representative of the Lexington Tobacco Board of Trade, the body of Silas Shelburne, pioneer looseleaf tobacco warehouseman, of Lexington, and one of the last surviving members of the famous command of General Stonewall Jackson, left Lexington Saturday for Richmond, Va.

Mr. Shelburne was stricken with apoplexy shortly before 9 o'clock Friday morning at his warehouse, and died before a physician could arrive. The end came at 9 o'clock.

With the news of Mr. Shelburne's death the Lexington Tobacco Board of Trade convened, named a committee composed of James Pryor, J. M. Gentry and W. L. Petty to draft resolutions expressing the loss sustained by the organization in the passing of Mr. Shelburne, who for almost 20 years has been one of the leading figures of the Lexington tobacco market and one of the men responsible for the growth it has enjoyed.

The resolution adopted by the committee, copies of which were spread on the minutes of the organization, mailed to the members of the family and sent to the newspapers for publication follows:

"In the passing of Silas Shelburne, not only the tobacco interests of the state, the South, but of the nation surrender one of their most outstanding figures. It was the good fortune of this organization to be intimately associated with Silas Shelburne, throughout a series of years that spanned a crucial period in the wide field of tobacco industry. In every instance he stood for the highest principles of business integrity, was fair, frank, generous to friend and foe alike and met the obligations of the hour with level eye and stout unflinching heart.

"As soldier, as citizen, as business man, as comasellor, friend, guide, his virtues shone that those who knew him best estimated him worthy of their highest veneration."

THE TOBACCO MARKETING SITUATION

Through the courtesy of the Louisville Courier-Journal, we present to our readers, with this issue The Sapiro plan for marketing tobacco. We are not in a position to advise the tobacco growers of this section as to the advisability of this plan, but present it to them for what it is worth, feeling confident that they will be guided by wisdom in a matter which is of utmost importance, not only to them, but to this entire section. The Advocate is heartily in favor of any plan which will benefit the farming interests of this section, but is not in a position to make recommendations at this time, but feels that the Sapiro plan is well worthy of most careful consideration.

In brief the plan, as outlined by Mr. Sapiro contemplates the formation of an organization composed of the producers of seventy-five per cent of the Burley tobacco; none to belong to the organization except those who produce tobacco or receive rent for land in tobacco.

A contract of sufficient length to prevent the opponents of the organization from creating dissatisfaction by offering high prices to those out of the organization, which they can do for one year but could not afford to do for a period of five years.

A contract sufficiently stringent to bind every member of the organization so that there may be immediate legal action taken to require specific performance by any one who attempts to violate the contract.

The grading, packing and marketing of the tobacco by experts, the best brain and talent that can be secured being employed to grade and to market the tobacco of the members of the organization.

The advance of a substantial percentage of the value of the crop to the owners thereof upon delivery to the receiving station, with adequate provision for the financing of the organization.

In rough and in brief these are the salient points, with complete and according to the judgment of the best bankers, workable plans to acquire or buy all the warehouses now existing in the Burley Belt.

$1,000,000 OF HARD-SURFACED ROADS FOR MONTGOMERY

The Advocate is especially elated over the result of the Good Roads election of Saturday when the voters of Montgomery county went on record, by a majority of more than 4 to 1, in favor of a $250,000 bond issue to be used in the construction of roads and bridges in this county. This money is all to be spent in connection with the State and Federal Governments on highways on which these two governments will put up 75 cents every time we put up 25 cents, thereby giving us $1,000,000 worth of hard-surfaced roads and relieving us permanently of their upkeep and allowing Montgomery county to spend the money formerly spent on these main roads on the improvement of the other roads, thereby directly benefiting every citizen in the county.

The movement for a bond issue to finance the permanent improvement of the Federal Aid Projects was launched by The Advocate the 30th of March, 1920, and since that time we have earnestly endeavored to convince the voters of the wisdom of such a step, and it was with no little pride, both for the influence of this paper and the citizens of Montgomery county, that we note the results of last Saturday's election. While modestly feeling that some of the credit for the overwhelming decision of our people is due to the publicity given by The Advocate, there is another outstanding figure, Hon. R. G. Kern, one of our County Commissioners, who for the past several months has labored both day and night in the interest of the bond issue, and to him, more than any other one man, is credit due for the overwhelming victory.

The voting of the bond issue will mean the dawning of a new and better day for Montgomery County. It will mean more to the business interests of Mt. Sterling than any improvement that has taken place since the building of the C. & O. railway, and to the broad visioned citizens of our county we desire to extend hearty congratulations, and to those who opposed same we are confident will live to see the error of their convictions, and they, too, will rejoice over the vast improvement.

4,000 Seek County and State Offices

More than 4,000 persons in Kentucky seeking nomination for county or state offices in the August primary, according to estimates made from announcements in county papers. The estimates do not include candidates for city and town offices, which doubtless would double the number contained in the estimate.

The study of the papers is not complete for the entire state, but the largest number "enlisted for the campaign" in the primaries is in Floyd county, where one newspaper carries announcements of 78 persons as candidates for the primaries. This paper carries announcements for both Republicans and Democrats, but most of them carry only the announcements of candidates for the party backed by the individual paper. A Laurel county Republican paper carries the announcements of 48 Republicans, 15 of them seeking the nomination for jailer. The announcements in a Graves county paper total 62; Montgomery, 52; Caldwell, 21; Scott, 25. Papers in 50 counties carry announcements in like ratio.

The officers to be elected in November include every county and judicial district officer, half the State Senate and all the members of the House. Should both parties nominate full tickets, which is not regarded as probable in some counties because of the fact that a nomination in such counties by the dominant party is equivalent to election, the number of candidates chosen in the primary would be double the following figures:

Thirty-six circuit judges; 36 commonwealth's attorneys; 120 circuit court clerks; 120 sheriffs; 120 county judges; 120 county attorneys; 19 state senators (in districts with even numbers); 100 members of the House of Representatives; 705 justices of the peace, and 705 constables. All city and village officers throughout the state also are to be elected.

The circuit court judges and commonwealth's attorney are elected for six years. The members of the House of Representatives are elected for two years. All other officers are elected for four years. This means that in this year Kentucky votes decide the character of the legislature for the next two years and the character of all of the law enforcement officers of the State for the next four years.

McCombs Directors Found Guilty

John McLaughlin, of New York, and Abram Renick, of Winchester, directors of the McCombs Oil Company, were found guilty on 13 counts of using the mails in a scheme to defraud by a jury in the U. S. District Court. The case was tried in Louisville Saturday and W. W. Crawford, counsel for the defense, immediately asked for a new trial.

The penalty for the offense of which the two oil men were found guilty is a fine of not more than $2,000 or not more than five years' imprisonment, or both for each of the counts.

Produce Review

Egg receipts are lighter on the leading markets and some advance is noted in quoted prices for fine grading stock. To bring best prices eggs should be gathered daily, held in a cool place and marketed frequently.

Cream has been received in larger quantities during the week, but the prices for butter have been well sustained.

Poultry is moving from the farms in larger quantities and prices are generally lower on the consuming markets and in producing sections.

Mrs. Edward C. O'Rear wore a Lucille model of lace and Mrs. John O'Rear, blue crepe Elizabeth. Mrs. Harry King and Mrs. William E. Bradley, Jr., assisted in the hospitalities. Teachers Will be Examined June 17-18

Superintendent of Public Instruction George Colvin has called the attention of city and county school superintendents to the examination of teachers for city and rural schools to be held Friday and Saturday, June 17 and 18. Under the old law the examinations were held at different times, but the new law provides for a uniform date.

In counties where there are no cities of the first, second, third or fourth class the examination will be conducted by the county superintendent and appointed examiners. In counties containing such cities the county superintendent and the city superintendent will conduct the examination with the assistance of appointed examiners, if necessary.

Three lists of questions for the examination will be sent out from the state superintendent's office and the answer papers will be returned to the state office for grading and the issue of certificates.

The elementary list includes the usual twelve elementary subjects and the elementary certificate qualifies for teaching in the eighth elementary grades below the high school. Teachers expecting to teach in cities of the four classes are not required to be examined in agriculture. If they wish to use their certificates for rural school work they will then be required to qualify in that remaining subject.

The high school list of questions includes ten high school subjects as follows: General science, general history, American history and civics, arithmetic, algebra, plane geometry, grammar and composition, literature, first year Latin and theory and practice of teaching. The high school certificate qualifies for both elementary and high school teaching. Applicants for this certificate must be at least 18 years old.

The state certificate list includes the twelve elementary subjects, also algebra and literature. This is a general purpose certificate. Applicants for it must have taught at least two years and be at least 21 years old.

Mash Fed in Summer Keeps up Production

Feeding mash to the poultry flock during the summer months is one of the surest means of maintaining a high egg production in the opinion of A. J. Culver, Hopkinsville, who is conducting a demonstration in co-operation with the College of Agriculture on his flock of 900 White Leghorn hens. Mr. Culver fed a mash recommended by the college to his flock during April and secured an average production of 20.1 eggs from each of the 900 hens. He has stated that he will continue to feed the mash throughout the summer.

The mash, which the Christian county farmer is feeding, is composed of 40 pounds or 60 1-2 quarts of shipstuff, 20 pounds or 18 quarts of corn meal, 20 pounds or 46 1-2 quarts of ground oats and 20 pounds or 11 quarts of tankage.

In feeding the mash, Mr. Culver keeps the flock confined until 10 o'clock in the morning, during which time they receive nothing but the mash and plenty of water. In this way they eat it before ranging around and since it is quickly digested they are still anxious to find more feed. He has found that by feeding grain in the morning the tendency of the birds to range and search for more food is discouraged. When the birds come back to roost in the evening they are given what grain they will readily eat in order that they may go to roost with their appetites satisfied.

Advantages pointed out by Mr. Culver in keeping the flock confined until 10 o'clock in the morning are that it keeps the hens laying in the house and on rainy days keeps the nests and eggs clean, an important point if the eggs are to bring the highest price. He also has the flock confined if he wishes to cull out any birds or dust the hens for lice.

"I find that by ranging around on the farm the hens cannot pick up all the feed which they require to produce the maximum number of eggs. Since they must have plenty of tankage or milk, the surest way to have them consume this material is to confine them in the house each morning until 10 o'clock," Mr. Culver said.

Salvation Army News

No matter in what part of the world you may go, there you will find the Salvation Army lassie. The Salvationists have representatives permanently stationed in 66 countries. It is because of this that the Army has gained a reputation as a world-wide finder of missing people.

The "Missing Friends' Bureau" is one of the most important and least known adjuncts of the Salvation Army, although it plays an important part in the lives of many. Part of the "War Cry," the official organ of the Army, is devoted each week to the "Missing Friends," column, containing inquiries and photographs of persons sought, and the stories which follow hardly give an idea of the labor required and the patient search necessary sometimes to locate the absent ones. With only the most meager of details furnished, in many cases, it is necessary to go over and over the ground before even a trace can be obtained. Photographs are sent all over the world, wherever a Salvation Army worker may be found, and if the missing man or woman is to be found, the Salvationist, with the help of police and detectives, will produce results.

A mother in Scotland asked the Army to locate her son, who had worked for an electrical firm in Newark, N. J. The firm had gone out of business. Then the Army wrote a letter addressed "General Delivery," and it was answered by the man's wife, who said he had died of influenza and that the night before she received the letter she and her two kiddies prayed to God to send them word from "Daddy's people in Scotland."

This is but one of thousands of cases. One-third of the cases handled during the past year have been solved by the Salvationists. The Army has been working eighteen months to find the brother of a stewardess on a big ocean liner. He hasn't been found—yet—but the Salvation Army is still trying.

Under the proposed Home Service Program of the Salvationists the "Missing Friend Bureau" will have a vastly increased scope.

Senator Stanley on The Peace Treaty

The United States Senate had under consideration the Knox joint resolution providing for a separate peace with Germany on April 30th, and Hon. A. O. Stanley, U. S. Senator from Kentucky, delivered the following remarks, which were published in the Congressional Record:

Mr. Stanley: Mr. President, were I seeking a simple partisan advantage rather than the good of our country I should rejoice at this hour. There is no doubt, no question of doubt, that the great majority of the American people, that the heart of the world hungrily longs for some concert among the powerful nations of the world for the establishment of peace and the abolition of war. There is no doubt and no question of doubt that the great majority of the American people agreed with the Senator from Massachusetts (Mr. Lodge), when he declared that a slacker peace, that a separate peace, that an understanding by this nation with Germany is dependent on and disregardful of the rights of our allies, would be a thing of infamy.

Today, at this hour, we can make a peace with Germany as a victor. Pass this joint resolution and you tie your hands, you gag your mouths, you throw away ruthlessly, blindly, madly, all that a hundred thousand dead have gained, that 200,000 maimed have won, that 2,000,000 across the seas have fought to gain. You have no rights that a neutral would not have. You have no rights that you would not have had had you never spent a dollar and never sacrificed the life of a hero.

This scene, this act, is tragic. It is pathetic. You are drunk with power, gentlemen, upon the other side. When the gods wish to destroy they first make mad; and this act of separate peace with Germany is political madness. You recant all that your leaders, with a few exceptions, have said. You turn your backs upon the solemn pledges of your own candidate. You destroy the proud position earned by the blood and sacrifice of heroes, and you place yourselves up on the level of conquered Germany. When you are ready to ask a peace, it will not be as a conqueror, but as an equal with the conquered.

As a Democrat, I can rejoice at this consummate folly. As a patriot I could weep for the stained honor of my country.

To worry about the past is to dig up a grave; let the corpse lie. To worry about the future is to dig your own grave; let the undertaker attend to that. The present is the servant of your will.

No man can be truly educated or successful in life unless he is a reader of books.—Benjamin Franklin.

A learned fool is more foolish than an ignorant fool.—Moliere.

Indigestion

Many persons, otherwise vigorous and healthy, are bothered occasionally with indigestion. The effects of a disordered stomach on the system are dangerous, and prompt treatment of indigestion is important. "The only medicine I have needed has been something to aid digestion and clean the liver," writes Mr. Fred Ashby, a McKinney, Texas, farmer. "My medicine is for indigestion and stomach trouble of any kind. I have never found anything that touches the spot, like Black-Draught. I take it in broken doses after meals. For a long time I tried pills, which gripped and didn't give the good results. Black-Draught liver medicine is easy to take, easy to keep, inexpensive."

Thedford's

Kentucky Farm Notes From Here and There

More than 15,000 pure-bred hatching eggs have been distributed by County Agent Leland Bunch among Christian county farmers as a part of the poultry standardization campaign being conducted in that county.

Sixty farmers in the Poplar Springs community, Barren county, recently met with County Agent J. O. Horning and formulated plans for community organization and work.

Forty-one girls and seven boys are charter members of a junior agricultural club which has just been formed at the Corbin school in Whiteley county by County Agent W. B. S. Woodward. Miss Irene Clark will act as local leader of the club.

The Campbell County Wool Growers' Association decided at a recent meeting to hold the 1920 crop of wool and pool it with the 1921 crop, according to a report of County Agent H. F. Link.

The Daviess county feed companies are offering $100 in prize money to the four farmers who produce the largest yield of yellow corn on five acre sin a contest which is being conducted by County Agent J. W. Whitehouse, in co-operation with farmers of the county.

James Farler, a Lee county farmer, will conduct a seed corn variety test in co-operation with County Agent T. H. Jones during the coming summer.

Organization of the junior agricultural club at South Fork, Barren county, has been completed and M. Y. Chamberlain chosen community leader, according to a report of County Agent J. O. Horning.

More than 450 Daviess county farmers recently attended a free barbecue dinner arranged by the local Farm Bureau and County Agent J. W. Whitehouse.

EVERYBODY SEES A CHANGE IN FATHER

Grateful Son Says His Father Looks Like Different Man Since Taking Tanlac

"My father has suffered from chronic stomach trouble for over 20 years and has paid out thousands of dollars for medicines and doctors," said G. W. Slayton, a well-known Cobb county farmer, living a short distance out of Atlanta, Ga.

"We tried nearly everything trying to cure him and he went off to the springs, thinking maybe the water might help him, but it just looked like nothing would reach his trouble. Then he tried dieting and lived on liquid food until he almost starved, but even that failed to do him any good and he just kept going from bad to worse.

"I don't guess there ever was a case as stubborn as his and if there ever was a confirmed dyspeptic, he was one of them and I guess he would have been one yet if it hadn't been for this Tanlac.

"The first we heard of this medicine was when my father saw an advertisement in the papers from parties he knew in Tennessee, who were friends of his and he knew what they said about it was the truth, so he got it right away and began taking it. Well, sir, it acted just like magic—everybody notices the change in father. Why, he is just like a different man and sits down to the table and eats like a farm-band. Only yesterday he ate pork and turnips for his dinner and ate so much we were actually afraid he was going to overdo the thing, but he laughed and said nothing hurt him now and that he was hungry and expected to eat and make up for lost time.

"Now, when a medicine will do things like that I think people ought to know about it and I want to say right now that I would not give one bottle of Tanlac for all the other medicines and health resorts in the county put together."

You Should See This, Mr. and Mrs. Farmer

The most crowded thoroughfare in the world is 42nd street, New York, the three or four blocks between Broadway and the Grand Central Station. Marching throngs passing right and left, to and fro throngs hectic, overdrressed and underdressed and self-confident with the metropolitan self-confidence that is so offensive to many of us folks from the quiet places.

In a first floor store room on 42nd street, near Broadway, a certain heating concern holds forth. In the window is a scene purporting to be the plain living room of an American farm house. The room has, of course, one of "our justly celebrated beater" in a corner. Father, in shirt sleeves and specs, is seated at a table, reading the paper. Mother, in checked calico dress, is standing over to one side. These figures are mannikins and the whole thing is an advertisement.

New York ridicules everything rural, and affects vast superiority over the farm, farm life and farm manners. But, do you know that window is besieged every minute from morning until night by solid masses of people, none of them laughing, none of them ridiculing, all of them looking upon that plain farm house living room respectfully, earnestly and even longingly.

You can transplant people from the natural and plank them down for a lifetime into the unnatural, but you can't stamp instinct out of them. That's why New York, blase and gaudy, crowds to this simple farm house window and feasts its eyes on independence and sane living.

It costs nothing to enter or try for the prizes.

New Circular Answers Fertilizer Questions

When approximately equal money values of rock and acid phosphate are compared on unlimed soils the greater crop increases are obtained from the use of rock phosphate while the use of lime in connection with these two materials reverses the results, according to Circular No. 97, entitled "Phosphates for Kentucky Soils," which has just come off the press at the College of Agriculture.

The publication is a comparison of the different forms of phosphate which, soil specialists state, is the fertilizer most needed on soils outside of the Bluegrass region. Rock phosphate, the cheapest source of phosphorus, was compared with acid phosphate, the most commonly used of any phosphatic fertilizer. The tests were conducted on experiment fields located at Greenville, Lone Oak, Mayfield, Russellville, Beren and Fariston and involved 40 corn crops, 27 wheat crops, 34 soybean crops and 24 clover crops produced during the three to eight years in which the fields were under experiment.

The use of rock phosphate gave net returns which were more than one-half greater than those obtained by the use of acid phosphate on unlimed soils as an average for all years and all fields. Net returns were estimated as the value of the crop increases minus the cost of fertilizers. On the same basis lime and rock phosphate gave net returns approximately two-thirds as great as that obtained by the use of limestone and acid phosphate. However, in some cases the limestone and rock phosphate were just as effective as the limestone and acid phosphate.

On the unlimed soil the average crop increases per acre for all fields and all years obtained by the use of rock phosphate was 6.05 bushels of corn, 480.5 pounds of soybean hay, 2.6 bushels of wheat and 727 pounds of clover hay. Similar averages for the acid phosphate were 6.01 bushels of corn, 402 pounds of soybean hay, 2.35 bushels of wheat and 408 pounds of clover hay.

On the limed soil averages for rock phosphates were 11.2 bushels

The averages for acid phosphate on the limed soil were 13.9 bushels of corn, 1,273 pounds of soybean hay, 7.6 bushels of wheat and 2,143 pounds of clover hys. The publication sattes that there are some variations from the given averages on individual experiment fields which should be studied before a decision is made on the form of phosphate best adapted to a particular region.

$400,000,000 to be Annually Wage Cut

A message from Chicago dated May 24th, says:

The rates of pay and classification established by the railroad labor board's wage scale of July 1920, will be used as a basis for reductions when the board bands down its new wage award the first of June, it was learned. The board has arrived at tentative percentage which will cut the present rates from ten to fifteen per cent according to the class of employes affected. The figures discussed in railroad circles place the cut at approximately four hundred million dollars annually. The employes of nearly a hundred roads will be affected and the percentage of reduction for each class of labor will be uniform for all roads. If the cut is four hundred million dollars it will still leave two hundred millions of the increase granted a year ago.

Barren County Farmers Form Junior Farm Club

After watching the progress of junior agricultural club members, farmers of Barren county decided to form a senior club, according to a report of County Agent J. O. Horning, who co-operated with them in perfecting the organization. S. H. Bowles was elected president, H. M. McQuown, vice president and H. W. Jolly, secretary. The club has arranged a program of work which calls for a number of demonstrations to be conducted by different members of the organization.

Doctors May Lose Licenses

Kentucky is being robbed of at least 300 potential citizens every year by criminal physicians who betray the ethics of their profession and violate the law of the Commonwealth by performing illegal operations. Dr. A. T. McCormack, State Health Officer, declared in announcing a campaign which the State Board of Health is initiating against doctors guilty of this offense.

Revocation of license to practice will be the immediate punishment of those found guilty.

At a special meeting in Louisville May 25 the board revoked the license of Dr. Charles L. Cawein, who has been indicted by the Jefferson county grand jury for causing the death of Mrs. Marie Sparks by an operation for abortion. Revocation of his license, however, according to Dr. McCormack, was not for this alleged offense, but was for charges brought against him a year ago, to which he pleaded guilty and which were filed away when he promised to discontinue his illegal practices.

Revocation of this license, Dr. McCormack also said, is but the first step in the campaign which the State Board of Health is planning to make. "The board now is investigating a number of charges of criminal abortions made against physicians, and action will be taken immediately to revoke the licenses of all found guilty. This nefarious crime must be stopped in Kentucky. At the present time there is hardly a county in the state in which there is not at least one doctor who performs illegal operations."
